PRESENTS:

JOAN WATTS

Poems and More

June 1 - June 30, 2012

Artist Statement:

The body of work featured in the exhibition, poems and more, continues my ongoing exploration of painting as process and meditation.

Luminosity has been central to my work with its various fluctuations of waves that offer constant change. These streams of light/dark offer infinite possibilities for reflection within embodied form. The partial circle also reflects light and appears to continue into space beyond the confines of the canvas.

The small paintings called “poems” represent the most intimate experience. The larger paintings allow more space to enter. The square shapes suggest equilibrium and equanimity. The diamond shapes move dynamically. All are different ways to give form to the formless.
